Foreword

The Weicon Staff has selected for the yearbook theme "Teenagers." Throughout the entire book we have portrayed various examples of teenage activities. Pictured herein are teenagers working together as committes, enjoying the excitement of athletics, and participating in social occasions. They show a profound interest in the exciting world about them. Throughout our twelve educational, adventurous, and sociable years, we have prepared ourselves to step from this teenage world out into the uncertain world of tomorrow. We will always recall those joyous years at Conrad Weiser. We regretfully terminate the best part of our teenage years at our Alma Mater. In parting we wish to thank the schoolboard, members of the faculty, and parents for their devoted interest in our teenage life. To the teenage underclassmen: we hope you will have many happy moments in your new school building. Wishing you the best!

Above are pictured the winners of the "Typical Teenager" Contest sponsored by the Yearbook staff. They were chosen on the basis of character, personality, ability to get along with others, and cooperation. Gale Long and Clyde Ebersole, both of the Senior Class, are representing the leaders of tomorrow; the teenagers of today.

Dedication

We, the class of 1958, are proud to dedicate this yearbook—the WEICON of 1958—to the teenagers of America.

In years to come, we, the teenagers of today, will be the backbone of our nation. The future growth and prosperity of our nation rests in our hands.

As the pages of this book unfold before you, you will see how our school endeavors to prepare us for this work.

Therefore it is with great pride and pleasure that we inscribe this book to the leaders of tomorrow; the teenagers of today.

James F. Shankweiler
Supervising Principal

To The Seniors of 1958:

There is no period in life more wonderful than that which we oftimes refer to as the teen-age. It is the time of greatest learning—the time when every boy and girl faces new challenges and new demands. It is the time when young people must master the many requirements for successful living in an adult world.

Your graduation from public school marks the threshold over which you step from a supervised and guided life into a society which will demand new things of you. Here you will be responsible for your own decisions, your own behavior and action, and your own values and attitudes. How well you have learned to make right choices will determine to some degree the happiness and success you will find in your new adult life.

James F. Shankweiler
Supervising Principal

John B. Stoltzfus
Supervisor of Elementary Education

To the Teenagers:

You are the material out of which the superstructure of civilization is reared, the source of power in which the world takes pride.

The more of kindness and justice you reveal, the more you bless the lives of others. The more beauty you create, the more love you liberate, the fuller you make other lives.

The highest of all Arts is the Art of living well. Beyond the beauty of Sculpture, or Painting, or Music, or Poetry, or Science is the beauty of a well-spent life. Here you can be the Artists. Obedience to the command, "Be ye perfect even as your Father in Heaven is perfect," would ally any man to God, and make the earth a Paradise.

Sincere best wishes for happy and successful lives.

Yours truly,

John B. Stoltzfus

The Varsity Team had very few victories this year, although they tried their best to win the Championship for our school.

In the future, because of Coach Berriman's intensified training program in the Junior High School, Conrad Weiser will be a consistent winner.

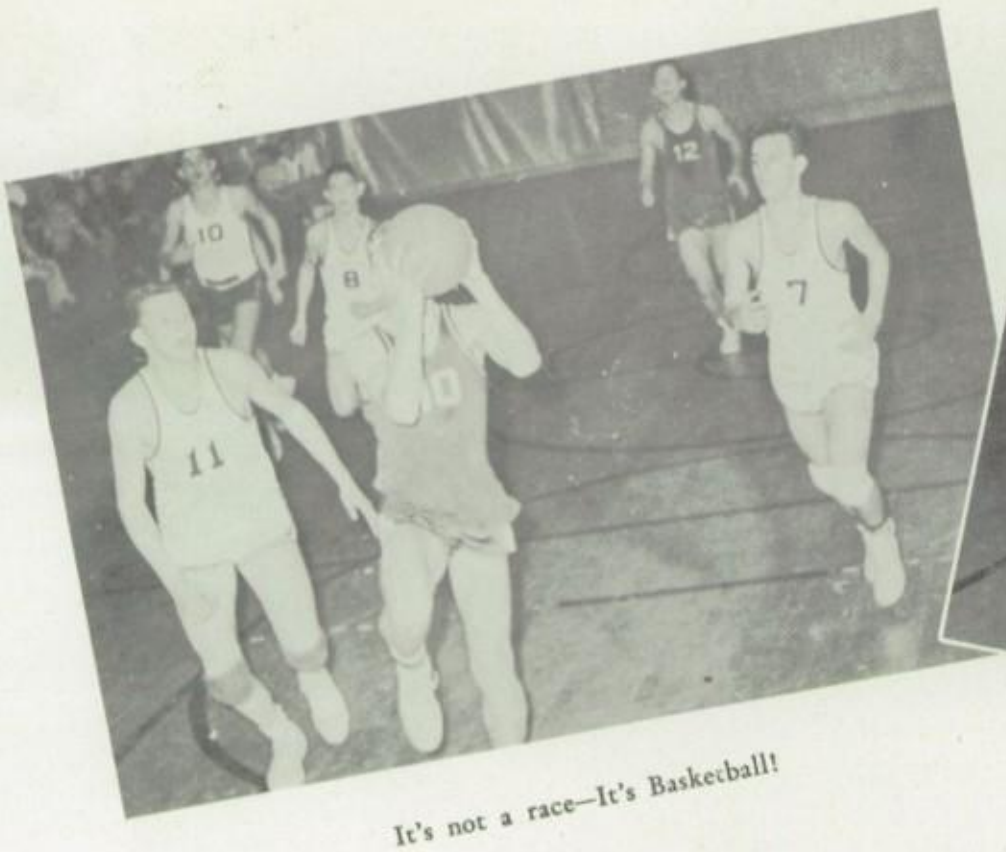
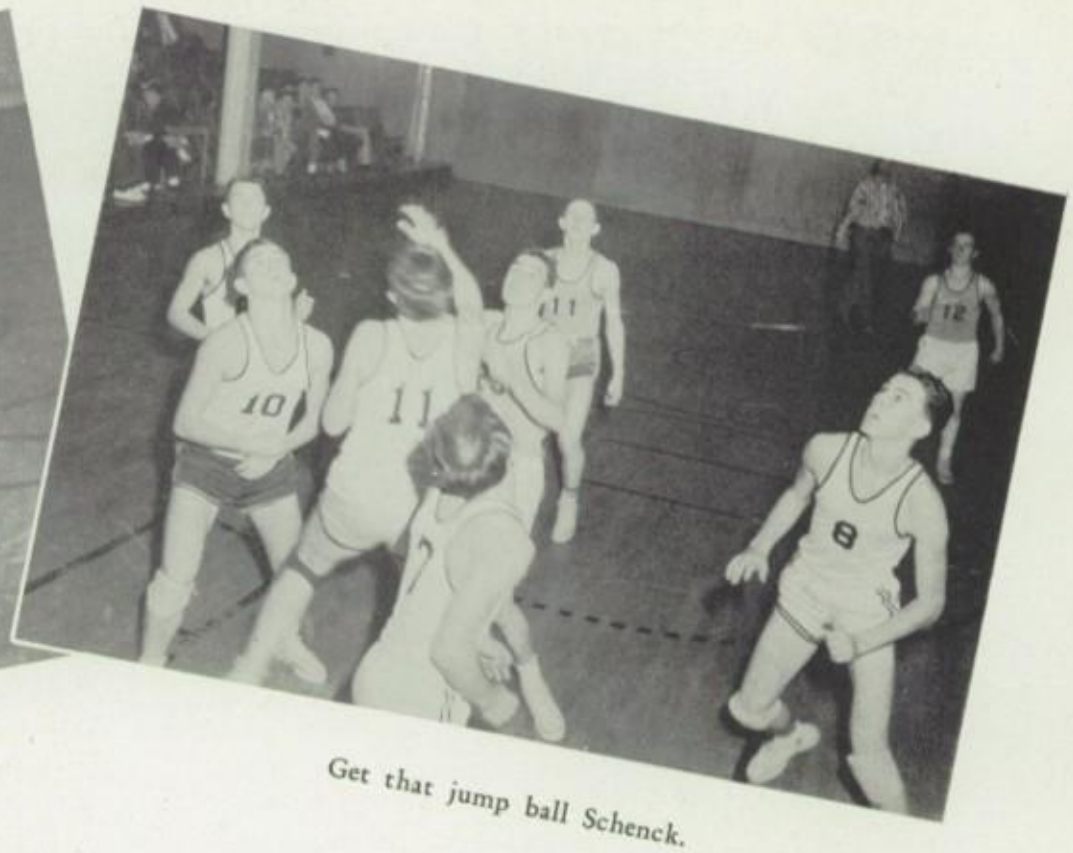
Warm up before the slaughter of alumni.

Get that point across, Coach!



It's not a race—It's Basketball!



Get that jump ball Schenck.

Despite the long rugged hours of practice, the Jayvees did not have a very successful basketball season for Conrad Weiser this year.

After school each evening the boys could be seen practicing to improve their weak points under the direction of Coach Hess. There have been a few casualties, but they displayed fine sportsmanship throughout the season. Even though our victories were few, we are sure of great basketball players in the future.

We want to thank Coach Hess and all his team for the effort shown in representing our school.

Tell 'em Coach.

To be a successful cheerleader requires just as much time and effort as needed to be a basketball player. After many hard hours of practice, the great day arrives when the selected few are chosen. After the decision has been made, many hours of concentrated practice, which are continued throughout the school term, are spent learning the arm motions, coordination, and various jumps. By the time of the first game, the girls are in top shape.

The cheerleaders begin the basketball season by building school spirit in the students by means of weekly pep rallies and color day. During this time the girls display their many preparations of weeks and months before.

Throughout the season everyone realizes that the cheerleaders are essential to the successful completion of any basketball season and can be commended on their fine work during the past year.

After school you are sure to find the boys practicing their skills while anxiously awaiting the day of the big game.

The coach, Mr. Fister, is giving two of the soccer players, L. Moyer and D. Keppley, instructions before a game.

Pictured above is the backbone of any baseball team. Shown are the catchers, pitchers, and coaches of the 1958 squad. The picture was snapped before the season started for the entire squad, and just in time for the last yearbook deadline! Getting the arm tuned up, setting up signals, and getting acquainted with coaches' methods occupy time of early March drills. Shown left to right and awaiting the call to "Play Ball," is Coach Hess, D. Raihl, pitcher; R. Yeingst, shortstop; J. Keppley, catcher; K. Kramer, outfielder; J. MacMullen, outfielder; P. Hoffman, second base; Coach Sedule.

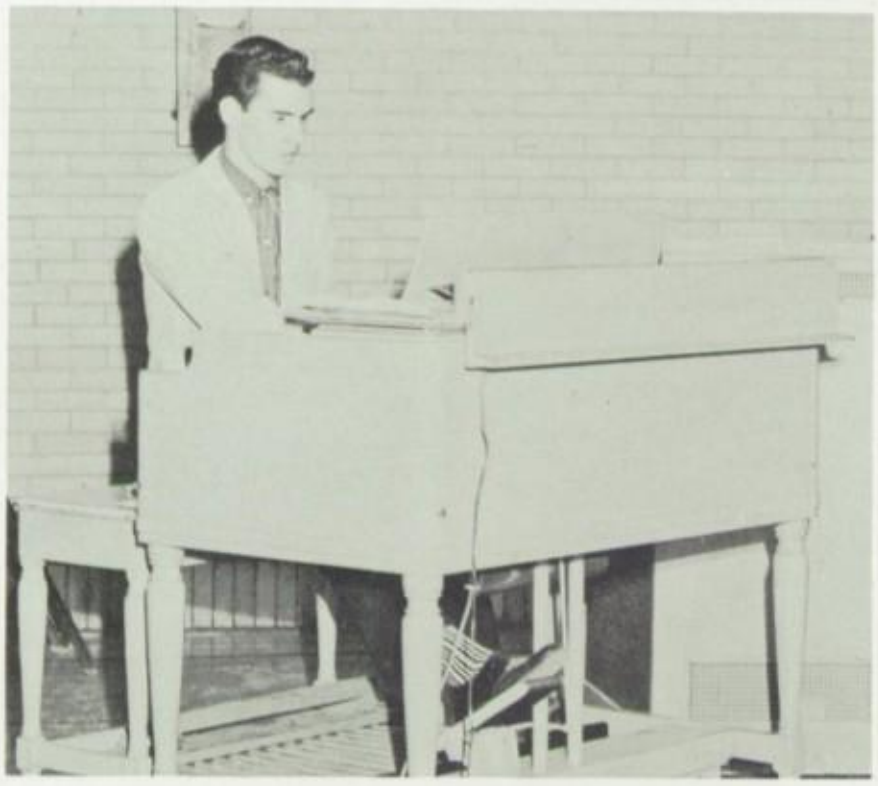
Conrad Weiser Junior Band, Robesonia Center

The flute section of the Junior Band practices one of their new selections for their concert. They have been doing a fine job.

The Junior Band is under the direction of Mr. Ross Smith. They have been working with great enthusiasm on their concert work. Mr. Smith has spent much time with them, their concert is sure to be a success.

Carolyn Kershner and Ronald Moore show how to "step around the floor kind of nice and light" in Ballin' the Jack while other music students, clad in 1920 apparel, look on.



Our young, handsome organist, Terry Brossman, demonstrates his talents. Good luck Terry!!

We are proud to present four very talented musicians who participated in Eastern District Band held at Gov. Mifflin during April 8,9, & 10. They are, left to right, Sally Gerhart, Jane Eisenbise, Carolyn Kershner, and Rosalie Grill.

These intelligent looking musicians are members of the Womelsdorf orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Ross Smith.

Annette Kurr, a violinist, attended the All-State High School Orchestra at Erie, Pa., on January 30, 31 and February 1. Congratulations, Annette. Keep up the good work.

Vocational Agriculture

Study, as well as shop work, are a part of the Vocational Agriculture Course.

The Vocational Agricultural Building, located in Womelsdorf, was formerly a garage.

Mr. Gregory, teacher of Vocational Agriculture, demonstrates the art of cutting up a chicken.

Unlike most teachers, Mr. Gregory works with his students throughout the summer, attending fairs with the boys who have exhibits.

The Future Farmers of America Banquet is an annual affair. The food is served by the F. H. A.

Sam Black, a well-known radio personality, was guest speaker at this particular banquet.

Shown above the students are learning a variety of songs. Some of them are "Chillum," "Set Down Servant," "Four Little Foxes," and "Belleman." A special group of eighth graders known as the "Gay Notes," are also a part of the chorus.

Mr. Lester Breininger—Womelsdorf Science Dept. Head

Play the game this way, and we are sure to win!!

Just what I've always wanted, a head of hair!!

Nothing like a pair of handcuffs to promote friendly relationship!!

You don't say!!!

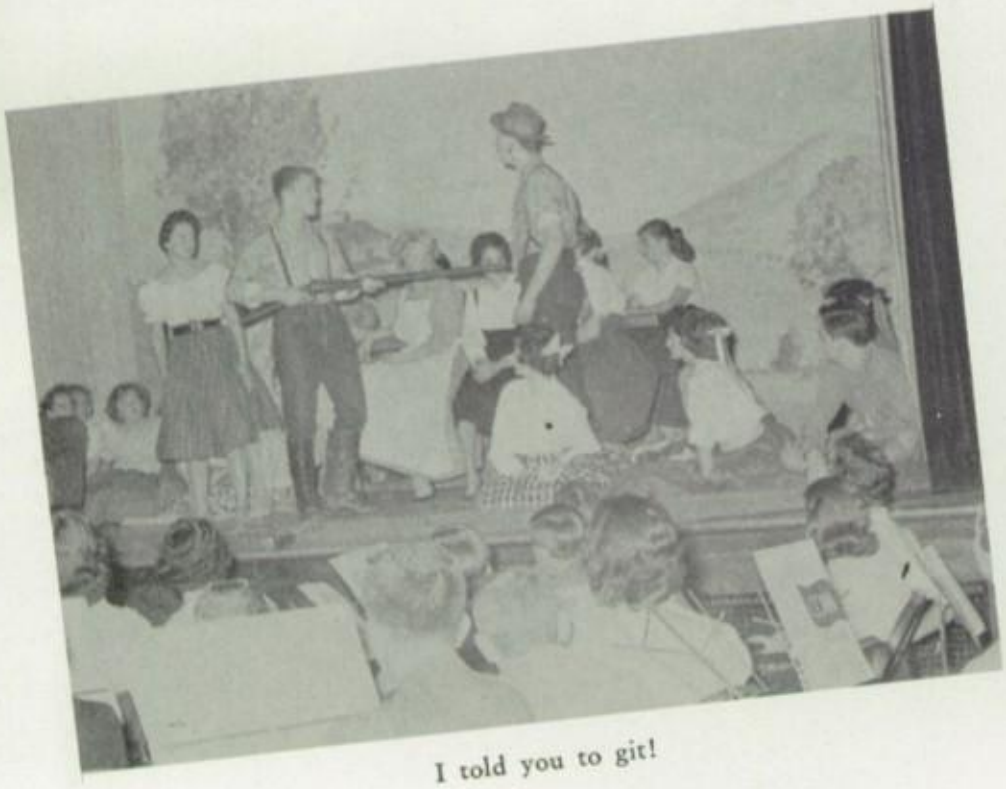
Now what could have gone wrong??!!!

Mr. Sedule modeling a new style in men's ties!!

These energetic gals are busily discussing plans for the monthly dance.

Looking back on one's childhood!!

Assemblies



I told you to git!

Please, not now!!

How about a kiss!!

Fellows, do you feel the presence of a female?

Your prize, Sir!

Dances

Take my hand!

Round and round we go!

Serve us with a smile!

Young love!

Romantic, aren't we!

Time for a break!

Real gone, aren't we!

Oh, don't!

Nothing like a waltz!

Senior Prom

This music sends me!

Next, please?

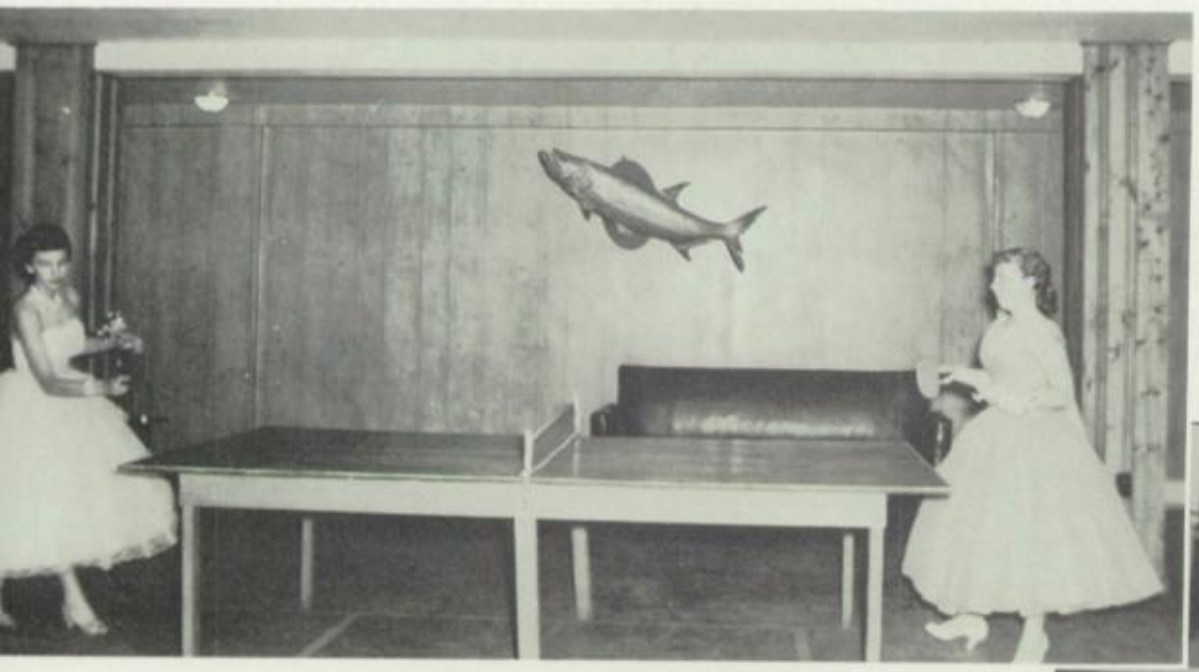
Put your mark there!

Take it away boys!

Then he said, then she said . . .

That breeze feels good!

How's your date?



I'll beat you yet!

The hole's down there!

Wow!!! Girls, girls, girls!

The Class of 1958 of Conrad Weiser Area Schools is deeply grateful to those whose names appear on the following pages. Without their generous contributions the publication of The Weicon would not have been possible.
